by Says Who

Says Who is a Danish design studio founded by Kasper Meldgaard and Nikolaj Duve. Rooted in Scandinavian design traditions, their work is guided by a love of craftsmanship, simplicity, and purpose. Growing up surrounded by furniture and a culture that values form and function, design became a natural path for them both.

To Kasper and Nikolaj, lighting is more than just illumination - it defines atmosphere. A lamp can transform how a room feels throughout the day, creating both comfort and character.

Good design, they believe, should solve a real need while also bringing something extra - joy, comfort, or beauty - into everyday life. Their inspiration comes from Nordic heritage, global culture, and the way people live with design.
By combining timeless aesthetics with modern technology, Says Who creates lighting that feels natural, functional, and made for modern living.
